SUBJECT: Extension Proposal for Single-Family Home Tax Rebate Program

Description

Initiated in 2001, the City’s Single-Family Home Tax Rebate Program has provided incentives for builders, developers, and homeowners to construct new single-family housing in Urbana. Specifically, this program rebates the property tax difference between Urbana and Champaign to the homeowner, which equalizes the taxes on the new Urbana homes. As part of a larger effort to promote Urbana, the Tax Rebate Program is also an integral component of the Build Urbana program.

Issues

Due to the success of the Tax Rebate Program and hope for continued progress, staff has received numerous requests to pursue its extension over an additional period of time. In further support of the status report provided to Council in June, this proposal presents statistics and analysis to sustain such a proposal.

Background

In early 2001, discussion was initiated between builders, developers, and city staff concerning the desire to increase housing starts in Urbana, particularly among single-family homes. Recent patterns of single-family home starts in the area confirmed that Urbana had comparably lower rates of housing construction. (See Chart A.) During the 2001 analysis to initiate the Tax Rebate program, it was noted that homebuilders and realtors viewed Urbana’s higher tax rate to be the largest stumbling block for Urbana home construction relative to surrounding communities.

Chart A

In March of 2001, the Tax Rebate Program was approved by City Council (by Resolution No. 2001-02-007R) with the following characteristics and guidelines:

- Goal to increase new home construction in Urbana
- Rebates the difference between the total property tax rate in Urbana and Champaign
- Allows the property owner of a newly constructed single family home a tax rebate for up to 5 years
- The home must be within Urbana city limits
- The home's building permit must have been issued between March 1, 2001 and December 1, 2002
- The rebate is transferable to subsequent owners within the 5-year time frame

City staff soon after developed a Tax Rebate Brochure, which outlined the program guidelines and provided a map and listing of Urbana subdivisions with new housing start opportunities. The subdivisions included Beringer Commons, Eagle Ridge, Fairway Estates, Landis Farm, Lincolnwood, South Ridge, and Stone Creek, with a later year addendum of Savannah Green, Urbana's newest subdivision (See Attachments 1 & 2.) A clause to the program for Beringer Commons specifies that their rebates fall under different requirements due to a previous legal agreement. In July 2001, the Tax Rebate Program was extended by Council to include Zero Lot Line Townhouses, Condominiums, and Duplexes (by Resolution No. 2001-07-022R) . This extension was intended to promote a variety of housing types and price ranges, as well as provide more equitable availability of purchase to homebuyers.

Throughout 2001 and 2002, a wide array of efforts promoting Urbana have occurred amongst many community members and organizations, including tours, 'Parade of Homes' each year, cooperative forums, presentations, realtor breakfasts, and the usage of billboard, website, radio, television, newspaper, mailings, flyers, brochures, yard signs, press releases, and interviews in order to promote the Tax Rebate Program, as a part of the outreach for Build Urbana. (See Attachment 3 for an example of material from a realtor breakfast presentation.)

In June 2002, staff prepared a status report to Council on the results of the Build Urbana and tax rebate program. This status report was also presented by City staff to the Urbana School District Board and the Urbana Park District Board, who represent our major partners in the program. Since initiation of the Build Urbana program, Urbana's share of single-family housing development has dramatically increased, while Savoy, St. Joseph, and Champaign has seen either a decrease in home starts, or a stable rate. As reported to Council in the status report, single-family housing permits issued during 2001 totaled 83, which is over three times the yearly average of 26 since 1988. (See Chart B below and Attachment 4.) Eighty-one of these homes were started after the initiation of the Tax Rebate Program. The year 2002 has shown an even more dramatic increase in housing starts under the program. As of October 22, 2002, single-family housing permits issued during this year total 167, which is over six times the yearly average between 1988 and 2000, and over twice the number of homes for 2001.

Chart B

Chart C breaks down Urbana's home starts by month for 2001:

Chart C

Urbana Home Starts

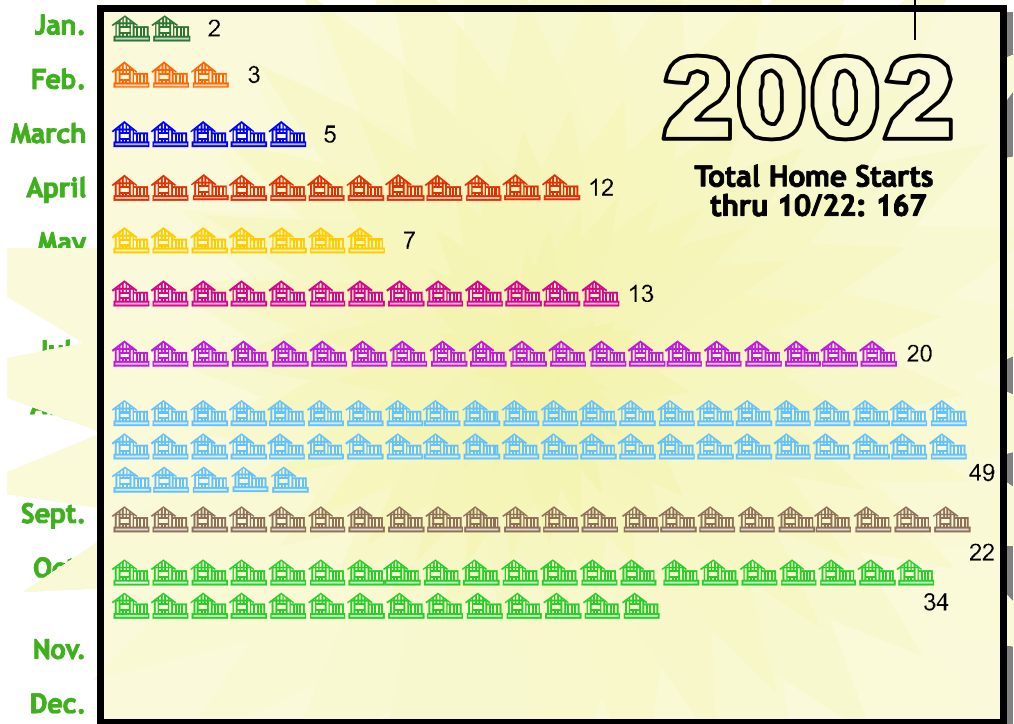

Chart D shows the break down Urbana's home starts by month for 2002 thus far:

Chart D

Urbana Home Starts

The housing starts total for 2002 is now closer in comparison to housing totals of a nearby community such as Champaign. For instance, Champaign's 2001 total for one- and two-family units was 138 permits for 142 units. So far in 2002, Champaign's total is 168 permits for 170 units, which is approximately equal to Urbana, even though Urbana's population is only half that of Champaign's.

An extension of the time frame for the Tax Rebate Program would provide incentive for the increase in home starts to continue, with tax assessments finalizing out to equal surrounding communities. In addition, the extension would allow more time for the build out of existing lots in our active subdivisions. This program has been tremendously popular among residents and business interests. Many community members and groups have expressed support for the Tax Rebate Program and for the current proposal to extend it's time frame by an additional 24 months. Included in Attachment 5 are letters of support from the Urbana Business Association, Stone Creek Realty, Tatman Horve LLC, Ramshaw Real Estate Representative Alex Ruggieri.

City staff requested input from the Urbana School District and Urbana Park District regarding the concept of extending the program. Given the positive fiscal analysis and positive effects on their tax base, both board's indicated their unanimous support for continuance of the program. Copies of the staff request and draft meeting minutes are attached.

Fiscal Impacts

Table 1 (below) illustrates the projections for the 2002 financial impact of the Tax Rebate program. With the suggested total number of homes being 154 over the previous yearly average since 1988, the net gains are a high amount for each sector and the paybacks are even greater.

Recommendations

Given the beneficial fiscal impacts and positive endorsements summarized above, staff recommends that Council extend the Tax Rebate Program for an additional two years, so that it is effective through December 2004. A Draft Resolution is attached for Council consideration.

Tax Rebate Program

- Increases new home construction in Urbana
- Rebates the difference between the total property tax rate in Urbana and Champaign
- Allows property owner of a newly constructed single family home a tax rebate for up to 5 years
- Also applies to newly constructed condominiums, duplexes, zero lot line town homes, and co-ops
- The home must be within Urbana city limits
- The home's building permit must have been issued between March 1, 2001 and December 1, 2002
- The rebate is transferable to subsequent owners within the 5-year time frame
- Each Spring, the City of Urbana Finance Department will issue letters to all eligible homeowners for the tax rebate
- The homeowner will still need to pay the complete amount of taxes assessed by the County before receiving a tax rebate from Urbana
- The homeowner will be issued their "reimbursement" portion (the rebate) according to the schedule outlined by the Finance Department
- Alternative incentives are available to owners of eligible homes in Beringer Commons; contact Beringer Realty for more information

Here's an example:

Assume a new home with a sale price of $150,000. The tax rebate program will rebate the difference in the tax bill for the home purchased in Urbana with that of a home of the same price in Champaign.

In our assumed example, we would divide the home's value of $150,000 by 3, to determine the assessed value, then divide by 100, and multiply by 8.59 (Urbana's tax rate), which equals $4295. By doing the same with a factor of 7.65 (Champaign's tax rate), we have $3825. The difference of $470 will be the approximate rebate, which could total $2350 over 5 years.

Dear Robin:

The tax rebate component of the Build Urbana initiative is set to expire on December 1, 2002. At the suggestion of local builders, developers, and realtors, the City of Urbana is investigating the potential of extending this program for an additional two years. To assist the City Council with this decision, we are interested in the viewpoints of our major tax district partners who are affected by this program.

I attended your Board meeting on September 10, 2002 to present our annual report on this program and to answer any questions and concerns of your Board. As set forth in this report and in data collected subsequent to this report, the tax rebate program appears to have been highly successful in encouraging new housing starts in Urbana. The fiscal impact of the program upon the affected taxing districts also appears to be beneficial with an average return on investment of four to one.

As we discussed, it would be helpful to the City in considering extension of this program to hear from your Board as part of an official action or vote. My understanding is that you will request this action at the Board meeting of October 8, 2002. Following action by the Park District Board and School District Board, the City Council can consider possible extension of the Tax Rebate program at its Committee of the Whole meeting on October 28, 2002.

Please let me know if you need any additional information on this program or on this request. I would be happy to attend your upcoming Board meeting to answer any questions your Board may have. Thank you for your assistance.

Dear Gene:

The tax rebate component of the Build Urbana initiative is set to expire on December 1, 2002. At the suggestion of local builders, developers, and realtors, the City of Urbana is investigating the potential of extending this program for an additional two years. To assist the City Council with this decision, we are interested in the viewpoints of our major tax district partners who are affected by this program.

Kathy Larson and I attended your Board meeting on August 13, 2002 to present our annual report on this program and to answer any questions and concerns of your Board. As set forth in this report and in data collected subsequent to this report, the tax rebate program appears to have been highly successful in encouraging new housing starts in Urbana. For example, as of today, we have 168 new housing starts so far this calendar year (see attached). This is over six times the annual average of 26 homes that was experienced between 1988 and 2001 when the Tax Rebate program was first implemented. The fiscal impact of the program upon the affected taxing districts also appears to be beneficial with an average return on investment of four to one.

As we discussed, it would be helpful to the City in considering extension of this program to hear from your Board as part of an official action or vote. My understanding is that you will request this action at the Board meeting of October 15, 2002. The Park District Board took a similar action at their meeting on October 8, 2002. Following the School Board action, the City Council can consider possible extension of the Tax Rebate program at its Committee of the Whole meeting on October 28, 2002.

Please let me know if you need any additional information on this program or on this request. I will be happy to attend your upcoming Board meeting to answer any questions your Board may have. Thank you for your assistance.
