Bart gave a brief report on the Big Ten City Managers Meeting in January. The topic was sustainability.

With regard to exchanging packets between SAC and the Plan Commission, Bart clarified for Marya that the intention is for the chairs to receive packets from the other commission. Marya asked any SAC members who want to get the packets to let her know and she will pass them along.

Old Business

Review of January 26, 2011, Joint Study Session

David Orr from Oberlin College gave a presentation on campus called "Black Swans and the Challenge of Resilience: Climate Change, Mitigation and Planning". Members of SAC, the Urbana Plan Commission, and Urbana City Council were all invited as part of the quarterly effort for these entities to listen to sustainability-related information. Marya Ryan discussed the details of the presentation, as well as the breakfast the following morning. The breakfast was for invited guests representing various units of government and campus departments to talk about local climate action planning. The breakfast may result in future climate discussions amongst the participating organizations.

Update on Climate Action Plan (CAP)

Bart Hagston provided a summary of the work conducted to date by SAC and City staff relative to the Urbana CAP. Community Development intern, Zach Woolard, is working with Bart Hagston on completing the greenhouse gas (GHG) reduction strategies included in ICLEI's CAPP software tool. Stephen Wald and Gary Cziko will assist.

Water Resource Issues

Marya Ryan stated that water was one of the original two issues, along with energy, that the Commission was asked to investigate. At this time she would like to initiate discussion on water resource matters. Commission members were asked what water-related matters they would like to consider. Marya Ryan volunteered to look into what types of water conservation plans other communities have developed. Kirstin Replogle volunteered to look into other municipal sustainability plans and how they have addressed water conservation. John Marlin expressed interest in looking into urban landscaping and tree planting as they relate to storm water management. John agreed to look at other cities' storm water plans. Further discussion on this issue will continue at future meetings.

Stephen Wald suggested that we address the economic pillar of the triple bottom line after looking at water issues. He suggested that we integrate economic considerations into our other conversations.
